{ Course Description }

This course utilizes the Compass Learning Odyssey social studies program and emphasizes relating social studies concepts to the real world to give students perspective and understanding of the world they're about to enter as adults. This one-semester course is a study of the major cultures of the world. It traces the evolution of political, social, cultural, religious, technological, and economic institutions from 1750 to the present.

Key Features include:

- Presents history as a narrative, with components that intertwine
- Emphasizes thematic as well as chronological elements
- Ties social studies concepts to real-world examples to give students perspective and understanding
- Features a toolkit which includes a document set, atlas, glossary, biographies, and a timeline of significant events

Course Materials:

Computer and sound card with speakers and/or earphones are strongly recommended.

State Alignments

Washington State Standards guided the design of the course. Learning expectations are found within the course itself.
