Course Description: American literature teaches us about America, and ultimately about ourselves as it links us to our historical and cultural heritage. Who are we and where did we come from? Where are we going? Who are our heroes and what are our dreams? This broad survey course studies background information from an online textbook, and primary reading from diverse authors, genres, themes and styles. Beginning with Native American myths, students then read Colonial, Revolutionary and Romantic writers. Thematic study of heroism in war and African-American literary contributions during the Civil War era are favorites. Naturalism, realism, frontier humor, regional color, women writers and poets before the turn of the century round out the semester. Students will use readings posted in course, including outside links and APEX textbook. This is a CREDIT RETRIEVAL course. You are eligible to take credit retrieval because you've previously taken the course, but not yet earned credit. When you complete required learning at 70% or above, you will earn .5 credit and a final C grade.

Students earn OP if they are on pace with their LPC/course pacing or BP if they are behind the pace of their LPC/course pacing.
